Letter from Schuyler Colfax

Among the letters written to the late border State Convention was one from the Hon Schuyler Colfax But it did not reach that body, having been personally addressed to Hon John L Thomas, who was absent from the city After expressing his regrets that he could not attend, Mr Colfax writes

I shall watch the proceedings of your convention with the deepest interest The country seems fully realizes how surely tried are the faithful Union men of the border States especially Maryland, Delaware and Kentucky, the States of West Virginia, Tennessee, and Missouri being administered under happier auspices When in Kentucky last June, just before the meeting of Congress, I was pained and saddened at what I heard from some of its most trustworthy citizens of the arrogant and domineering conduct of the dominant rebel sentiment there and it convinced me that the House of Representatives should at least inquire, as on July it resolved to do, into what kind of constituency had elected the Representatives they sent to the National Councils At the same session, although some of our friends hesitated when Mr Kelsey, of New York, offered his resolution in structing the judiciary committee to inquire if Maryland, Delaware and Kentucky had republican State governments so that the vote on seconding the previous question was a tie, I gave the casting vote in the affirmative, because I honestly thought it was a most important and most timely inquiry It is time to settle what is 'a republican government' If a State which enfranchises by the tens of thousands every man who bore arms to destroy the nation, and along with them every man who took the official oath of allegiance to the so called government, which could only exist on the ruins of the republic, and at the same time disfranchises by the tens of thousands other men who are free citizens of the United States and unimpeachably loyal, if such a State has a republican form of government, I would like some learned jurist to inform us what would be an anti republican government If a State where loyalty is made odious, and devotion to the union in its darkest hours of trial is purchased by ostracism, outrage and dishonor, and the bitterest enmity, and bloodiest hostility to the republic is the surest passport to social distinction, to public honor, and to official trust, if that kind of government is one that the United States is to guarantee (and that means to secure, to endorse, to protect) our revolutionary fathers must have added to the constitution. I will not insult their memories by believing it I have the fullest faith that the congress which has dared to defy rebel hate and executive obloquy and ravilling, will not allow such conduct to pass unrebuked It is their duty to protect loyal men everywhere, and they will do it Sneered at and denounced for sending investigating committees south when the President's policy had ripened into that horrid crop of riots, outrages, and massacres, the legislation which grew out of these investigations has been endorsed since by all who love loyalty and abhor rebellion throughout the land And though their first duty, when they reassemble, will be to determine whether the recent executive action, so flagrantly defiant of the will of the people, and so notoriously at the demand of unrepentant traitors, does not require them to present the President at the bar of the Senate as an enemy of the country in his persistent revivication of the spirit of rebellion, an enemy of peace in his persistent defiance of the expressed will of the nation Yet I cannot doubt they will also execute that constitutional guaranty so wise and so thoroughly that hereafter Union men in the border States, as elsewhere, shall realize that devotion to country has not brought upon them dishonor, tyranny, and oppression, but that throughout the length and breadth of the republic every one who has proven his love to the Union, and who rejoices in its preservation, shall be adequately protected against all enemies by the power of the land he helped to save SCHUYLER COLFAX

About the Price of Gold

"GOLD.—The price of gold is kept up by the Jacobins who are clamoring for the impeachment of the president, and thrive most when the country is most disturbed"—New York Evening Express, September 10th

Since the above copperhead statement was written, gold has declined from two to three cents, and yet there is no less "for the impeachment of the president," to-day than there was on the sixteenth On the other hand, when the president removed Stanton, Sheridan and Sickles, the price of gold went up at a jump, and when he issued his amnesty proclamation, it went up again—and the expectation that he would remove all the decent members of his cabinet and appoint notorious copperheads in their places, and that he would order the Southern registry lists to be reopened in order to enable all the unrepented rebels to become voters, so that they might out-number and overwhelm the votes of the loyal whites and blacks, and thus frustrate and defeat the congressional plan of reconstruction, gave, it another jump upward Not until financial circles became in a measure satisfied that Secretary McCulloch and General Grant would remain in the cabinet, and the president keep his hands off of the southern registration, did gold again take the back track, as it has within a day or two past.

The reckless and mischievous course pursued by the president, and not "the Jacobins who are clamoring" for his impeachment is what made the price of gold advance This fact that his bold, bad acts are endangering the peace and welfare of the country, and that they will probably necessitate his impeachment, is what increases the public anxiety and creates a painful uneasiness in the financial world

We have not the least doubt that, if we could have had a wise, prudent and patriotic president as the successor of Lincoln, the price of gold today would not be much above 160 The delays, dangers and uncertainties caused by Johnson's demagogism in attempting to pervert the great work of reconstruction on the basis of loyalty, as proposed and wisely begun by congress have had the effect of keeping our national affairs "in a muddle," and this mischievous and dangerous state of confusion and suspense in the chief cause of the continued high price of gold, and the slow advance almost equal to a stand still in the value of our national bonds

The impeachment and expulsion of Johnson, instead of having an unfavorable effect in financial circles, would, in our judgment, have just the opposite tendency, for then there would be a promise of a settled political policy and of speedy and permanent peace, which is the great desideratum of the present time, north as well as south, financially as well as politically, socially and commercially.

SINGULAR CASE.—The Beardstown Illinoisian of September 12th states the following remarkable case

A remarkable effort of nature to relieve the human body of an obstruction, has occurred in this vicinity, which should attract the attention of scientific men About twelve years since James Thompson, a wealthy farmer of this county was waylaid by ruffians, and in the encounter was stabbed in the back, under the left shoulder blade. He was treated by the physicians and in a short time the wound healed over A few years since he began to cough, and has since that time all the appearance of a person under the influence of consumption, to such an extent that his friends despaired of his recovery About three weeks since, in a violent fit of coughing he threw up a piece of the knife blade with which he was pierced, about one inch and a half in length and about half an inch in width It had passed, at that long interval, from his back into his stomach through his lungs, and upwards through the bronchial tube. A more wonderful freak of nature we have never read of in the books. Thompson is now doing well and bids fair to live as long as any other man

VICTORIA'S FAMILY DISCIPLINE.—One day when the Queen was present in her carriage at a military review the Princess Royal, then a willful girl of about thirteen, sitting on the front seat, seemed disposed to be rather familiar and coquettish with some young officers of the escort Her Majesty gave several reproving looks, which not availing—"winked at her, but she wouldn't stay winked." At length, in darting her handkerchief over the side of the carriage, she dropped it—too evidently not accidentally Instantly two or three young heroes sprang from their saddles to return it to her fair hand—but the awful voice of royalty stayed them "Stop, gentlemen!" exclaimed the Queen—"leave it just where it lies Now, my daughter, get down from the carriage and pick up your handkerchief" There was no help for it. The royal footman let down the steps for the little royal lady, who proceeded to lift up the dust the pretty piece of cambric and place She blushed a good deal, though she tossed her head saucily, and she was doubtless angry enough, but the mortifying lesson may have nipped in the bud her first impulse toward coquetry It was hard but it was wholesome How many American mothers would be equal to such a piece of Spartan discipline?

A COLORED DEMOCRAT.—Hon J A J Creswell, in an eloquent address before the Border State Convention at Baltimore, narrated the following

I know but one black man in Maryland whose position is doubtful. ["Whose?"] His name is Abe Curtis, in my county Some one came to me some time ago, and said Abe Curtis was a Copperhead "Oh," said I, "I think that's very true" The next time I saw Abe I told him "They say you're a Copperhead, Abe." "Oh, yes, Massa John I'm a Copperhead" Says I, "Abe, you're a fool" "No, massa," says he, "I'm no fool Just hear what this nigger has to say You know I am a pretty old man, and can't read nor write, and ain't got sense enough to learn, and besides I'm mighty fond of whisky I never thought I was fit for anything but to be a Democrat [Great applause and laughter] That sort of reasoning overcame me, and I surrendered at discretion

A story is told of a Nantucket man who lost hens from his roost. To detect the thief he placed a sharp scythe in a position to be clutched by the criminal as soon as he opened the hen roost door The next morning there was blood upon the blade, but no hens were missing The gentleman did not hunt for the wounded hands, and in a short time went to California, returning

Taxing Government Securities.

Our citations from the decisions of the Supreme Court on the subject of taxing United States bonds, are already giving the Herald trouble That paper says that these decisions were rendered by a Federal party Judiciary, intimates that they are not good law, and affirms that the doctrines set forth in them were repudiated by an overwhelming majority of the people when Gen Jackson was elected President It affirms that the decisions declaring United States stocks exempt from State taxation were based not on an express, but on an implied power in the Constitution,—an interpretation of that instrument which the Democratic party has constantly opposed That that party has always contended for a strict construction of the Constitution, and that the decisions of John Marshall on this particular subject are practically obsolete. Nothing could be more unfortunate for the Herald than these ignorant and blundering statements. We shall show by the decisions of a Democratic Supreme Court, delivered since the bonds now afloat were issued, that the law as expounded by Chief Justice Marshall is the law still. We shall show that a Democratic Supreme Court, headed by Chief Justice Taney, has declared that bonds are not taxable, and that this Democratic Court has put its decisions on the subject on the same ground with the decisions of Chief Justice Marshall. In 1862 the case of the Bank of Commerce vs. New York City, (2 Black, 620) came before the Supreme Court of the United States. The case was as follows: The capital of the Bank of Commerce, by its own statement, was $9,148,480. Of this sum $392,214 83 was invested in real estate, and the balance of $8,756,265 17 was invested in stocks, bonds and securities of the United States. The Tax Commissioners reported the bank as subject to taxation for this whole amount without regard to its being invested in the public debt of the United States, but adding that this was not an assessment upon such public debt, but only upon the bank capital. The Supreme Court of the State of New York decided that as a part of the securities held by the bank had been issued prior to the act of Congress declaring United States bonds exempt from taxation, the bank was liable to taxation to that extent; but that it was not liable to be taxed for those which were issued subsequent to the passage of the act aforesaid. The bank denied the right of the city to tax any portion of the stocks, and on this issue took the case to the Supreme Court of the United States. It will be observed that the question is here raised whether the bonds were liable to taxation before the law of Congress was passed declaring them exempt. The Court decided in favor of the bank that no portion of the bonds were taxable, thus holding that their exemption from taxation did not rest on the law of Congress, but on the Constitution itself. The case was decided in accordance with previous decisions, and the doctrines held by Chief Justice Marshall specially referred to and emphatically affirmed.

It may be of service to the Democratic demagogues who are perpetually harping upon the taxation of bonds, to call their attention to the composition of the Supreme Court at the time this decision was rendered. Those who believe that Marshall's opinions are obsolete, and who decry the judgments rendered by a "Federal Judiciary" on this and other subjects, may, with profit to themselves, remember that a majority of the Supreme Court, at the time when the decision we are considering was rendered, were Democrats, appointed by Democratic Presidents. Chief Justice Taney and Justice Wayne were appointed by Jackson; Justice Catron was appointed by Van Buren; Justice Nelson was appointed by Tyler; Justice Grier was appointed by Polk, and Justice Clifford was appointed by Buchanan. These six Judges were two-thirds of the Supreme Court. They were all undoubted Democrats,—at least all of them (with the exception of Clifford, who was not on the bench at the time) concurred in the famous Dred Scott opinion, that touchstone of Democratic orthodoxy. The opinions they rendered on the subject now before us are therefore not to be treated with contempt by their party, or sneered at as "Federal doctrines." Having premised this, let us see what this Democratic Supreme Court has to say on the subject of taxing bonds.

"This stock," said Justice Nelson delivering the opinion of the Court, "is held by the bank the same as such stocks are held by individuals, and alike subject to taxation or exemption, by State authority. On the part of the bank it is claimed that the question was decided in the case of Weston vs. the City Council of Charleston, (2 Peters, 449) in favor of exemption. In that case the stocks were in the hands of individuals which were taxed by the city authorities under the law of the State. The Court held the law imposing the tax unconstitutional. This decision would seem not only to cover the case before us, but to determine the very point involved in it." After quoting at length from the opinions of Chief Justice Marshall in the Charleston case, this Democratic Court said: "It is apparent in studying this opinion in connection with the cases of McCulloch vs. the State of Maryland, (4 Wheaton, 116) and of Osborn vs. the United States, (9 Wheaton, 732),"—the Maryland and Ohio cases from which we have cited in former articles,—"that it is but a corollary from the doctrines so ably expounded by the Chief Justice in the two previous cases in the interpretation of an analogous power in the Constitution."

Here we find it stated by a Democratic Supreme Court in the year 1862, that the opinion given by Marshall in the Maryland case in 1819 was a correct exposition of the Constitution on this subject; that the Charleston case which was decided in 1829 was "but a corollary" from the doctrines then so ably expounded, and that the decision in the Charleston case not only covered the case from New York city at that time before the Court, but "determined the very point involved in it." Has the Herald anything further to say against "the Federal doctrines as expounded by John Marshall?" Does it still think that they were wrong inasmuch as they were based on merely an "implied power in the Constitution?" That paper is quite as ignorant and unfortunate in its attempt to throw discredit on the opinions of Chief Justice Marshall and the Supreme Court of the United States, as it was in its late attack upon the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon.

But this Democratic Supreme Court did not content itself with merely reaffirming what Marshall had said. It presented additional arguments showing why bonds could not be taxed We quote:

> The result of this doctrine (the doctrine stated by Marshall) is, that the exercise of any authority by a State government trenching upon any of the powers of the General Government is, to the extent of the interference, an attempt to resume the grant in defiance of constitutional obligation; and more than this, if the encroachment or usurpation to any extent is admitted, the principle involved would carry the exercise of the authority of the State to an indefinite limit, even to the destruction of the power. The conclusive answer to the attempted exercise of State authority in all these cases is, that the exercise is in derogation of the powers granted to the General Government, within which it is supreme That Government whose powers, executive, legislative or judicial, whether it is a Government of enumerated powers like this one, or not, are subject to the control of another distinct Government, cannot be sovereign or supreme, but subordinate and inferior to the other. This is so palpable a truth that argument would be superfluous. Its functions and means essential to the administration of the Government, and the employment of them, are liable to constant interruption and possible annihilation. The case in hand is an illustration. The power to borrow money on the credit of the United States is admitted. It is one of the most important and even vital functions of the General Government, and its exercise a means of supplying the necessary resources to meet exigencies in times of peace or war. But of what avail is the function or the means if another Government may tax it at discretion. It is apparent that the power, function or means, are at the mercy of that Government

Further citations are made in this opinion from the opinion given by Marshall in the Maryland case, defining the limits of State authority over the subject of taxation Of this exposition of the law, the Democratic Supreme Court remarks in closing "All will agree that this is the enunciation of a true principle, and it is only by a wise and forbearing application of it that the operation of the powers and functions of the two Governments can be harmonized. Judgment of the Court below is reversed" The opinion was unanimous,—every Judge concurring with Nelson.

Let it be observed that this case was brought to ascertain whether the bonds which were issued prior to the act of Congress declaring them exempt from taxation, could be taxed by the States—it being admitted by the Tax Commissioners that those which were issued after the law was passed were not taxable Let it be observed, further, that the Democratic Supreme Court held, that no part of the bonds could be taxed,—deciding that they are not exempt by act of Congress, but by the Constitution. Hence it appears that with or without the law specially exempting them, they are also untaxable. Thus we have shown that the Constitution, and not the Republican party, has exempted the bonds from taxation.

As the Herald on behalf of its party, has taken up this subject in the hope of refuting the points we have made, (though it has only succeeded in making a display of its usual ignorance and inability to understand) we may take the liberty of asking it how it likes the record on the subject of taxing bonds as far as it has got with it? With this inquiry, and with the assurance that there are several later decisions of the Supreme Court on the same question, which we shall examine hereafter, we leave that paper to ponder upon one of the decisions of that eminent Democratic tribunal whose utterances have always been received with such awful reverence by its party.

Protection Against the Indians.

We observe that complaints are being made against Gov. Woods because it is alleged that he has taken no measures to protect the people east of the mountains against the Indians. Those who complain seem to think that the Governor has it in his power to provide a military force for the purpose, and that he is culpable for not doing so. Now we know that Governor Woods has done all in his power to provide adequate protection for the people in the exposed settlements, and that he has not done more is entirely owing to a want of means to do it. He has used his influence to have troops sent to this department, and through his personal efforts several additional companies have been secured. But he is powerless to take any other measures for the protection of the people of the eastern part of the State. The only thing he could do would be to call out the militia, and this is impracticable,—not to say impossible. The State has no arms suited to the purposes of Indian warfare; there are no means at the command of the Governor to mount, equip or support even a single company. No measures were taken by the Legislature last fall to provide for such an exigency; no means were placed at the disposal of the Governor to furnish the protection demanded. The Governor could do nothing now unless he were ready to pay the expenses of a military expedition out of his own pocket. Last year he sent a special message to the Legislature strongly urging that something should be done in the premises, but that body took no action. Why did not the members from the eastern counties press the subject? It is inconsistent, as well as ungenerous in the people of that part of the State to censure Gov. Woods who has done all he could do, and entirely exculpate their representatives who have done nothing. Besides, it was through the Governor's efforts that the Indian scouts were organized, and no body of men of the same numbers have done more against the hostile bands than these friendly Indians. We also observe that complaints are made against General Steele. Those who are acquainted with the facts know well that he done all that could be done with the troops at his disposal for the protection of the people. It is extremely unfortunate that the condition of things is such that nothing more can be done at this time; yet such is the nature and extent of the country exposed to the predatory and murdering bands that it is not probable that five times as many troops as are now in the field could wholly prevent the perpetration of these outrages.

The total vote of Montana Territory in the late election was 11,692. This is larger than that of the State of Nevada or Nebraska.

A. J. reads the Declaration of Independence thus "Conquerors derive their just powers from the consent of the conquered."

NOVEMBER ELECTIONS.—Eastern elections are to be held as follows

TUNNELLING CHICAGO RIVER.—The Chicago Post, September 14th, has the following account of the present condition of the tunnel by means of which one of the principal streets of that city is to be run under the bed of the Chicago River.

> The tunnel progresses finely, a working force of 270 men and many teams being constantly employed. Not only the excavations, but the walls, have been commenced on both sides of the river. On the west side the foundation of the south wall has been laid from Canal street to the western terminus of the slope. On the east side the south wall is well under way, and the north wall has been commenced. According to present indications the excavation of the approaches and their revetment walls will be nearly completed by the time navigation closes, leaving the force free to concentrate its energies on the excavation and masonry under the bed of the stream

RELIEVING THOUSANDS

FROM

COUGHS, COLDS,

Bronchitis,

ALL DISEASES

OF THE

Chest and Lungs.

THE ROYAL BALSAM!

HAS NOW BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC FOR A length of time, and wherever used is highly recommended, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction, but, on the contrary, all are delighted with it and speak in the highest terms of its magical effects. The astonishing efficacy of the ROYAL BALSAM, in curing the diseases for which it is recommended entitles it to the highest rank among the list of medicines, and no family can be without it after once trying it.

Read the following testimonials from some of the most prominent citizens of Oregon.

MIRACULOUS CURE.

DR. HENLEY—Dear Sir: I feel it but a duty to inform you and the public what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my wife She had been afflicted with a severe cough for several weeks, which had assumed a dangerous feature, for which many physicians have been trying without any material benefit, and all the remedies failed to give her any relief. Without relief was got I feared for the worst, in her present condition. The cough appeared to be worse at night, she could get no rest—when Mr. Randall, of this place, advised me to try your Royal Balsam; all other remedies having failed, I concluded to try it, and I purchased two bottles. Strange to say, by the time I gave her three spoonfuls of the Balsam she got relief, and sleep, a thing she had not done for three nights previous. By the time she had taken one, bottle throughout was checked. Its effect was truly miraculous, as the cure was effectual: hence, I have no hesitation in recommending the Royal Balsam to all who are afflicted, and it appears astonishing to me that medicine, of such great merit, and I might say magical effect, is not more in use. My candid opinion is, if persons use it once, they never be without it in the house.

Vancouver, March 1, 1867. H. COCHRAN.

From Wm. Doty.

North Yamhill, July 15, 1867.

DEAR DR HENLEY—It is with sincere gratitude I undertake to write to you, what your Royal Balsam has done for me For the last 12 years I have been afflicted with a severe cough and what also some of the physicians called the Bronchitis, and have spent a fortune to get cured, trying all the physicians and remedies I could get to no purpose, Through the influence of my neighbors (for you have a great name with them here,) I got a bottle of your Royal Balsam, and finding that it relieved me considerable I sent for a half dozen more. And now after one month using it I am perfectly cured. I gained ten pounds within a month and feel quite a different man. I send you this for publication for the benefit of humanity, that through my experience others in affliction may be relieved as I have been Yours truly,

WILLIAM DOTY.

From Sophia M. Holman.

DEAR DR. HENLEY—It is my duty to inform you and the public, what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my children. Two of them had a very bad cough and cold, I got a bottle of the Royal Balsam, and gave them some at bedtime and some in the morning, and that was all that was needed to cure them. I was astonished at not hearing them cough again, but so it was. I find if you give it in larger doses it will make the children throw up in an instant, and I think every mother ought to have a bottle of your Royal Balsam in the house, in case a child should get the croup for which it is a sure remedy, as it acts like magic on children. What I have seen and heard from my neighbors about the Royal Balsam I would sooner depend on it than on any prescription from any physician. I have lost two children within the last year of the same disease, had I had at the time some of the Royal Balsam I am confident my dear ones would be alive now. I shall always recommend it to all my friends, for I consider it a blessing and God-send to mankind.

Yours truly, SOPHIA M. HOLMAN.

From Drs. Bell & Parker.

We have sold a great deal of Medicine since we have been in business, and now have fifteen different kinds of Expectorants for sale But Dr. Henley's Royal Balsam takes the palm from all. In fact, we sell six bottles of Royal Balsam to one of any other kind and really it seems of no use to keep any other. During our experience we have never seen any medicine that gives the satisfaction the Royal Balsam does, as in proof, by the results daily coming in from the country of old Chronic cases, when nothing else would remove the dreadful cough they had I find it is good for Bronchitis and Asthma We acknowledge it is a pleasure to sell medicine that gives such universal satisfaction.

BELL & PARKER,

Druggists, Oregon City

From W. F. Barber.

DR. HENLEY—Dear Sir: I had the Asthma for the last four years, so bad that it came near choking me. I tried all the patent medicines recommended for the cure of Asthma without doing me the least good, till I was told to try some of your Royal Balsam, which on several affliced with the same disease has performed wonders. I am using it now for a week and strange to say I have not experienced anything since, and I really believe that I am perfectly cured, anyhow I shall never be without a bottle of the Royal Balsam in the house in case of a similar attack, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to all afflicted with the same disease

I am Yours truly, W F BARBER

From J. H. Morril.

DEAR DR. HENLEY—I think it but justice to you that these few lines should be made known to the public, for there is so much humbug going on in patent medicines and quack nostrums now a days that I had lost all faith in everything in the shape of medicine. I was afflicted with what is called Bronchitis for the last thirty years, I coughed and wheezed for an hour at a time, I tried some of the best physicians in the Atlantic States and on this coast, all to no purpose. I could get no relief, and I really thought there was no relief for me in the world I was induced to try a bottle of your Royal Balsam and it had a most remarkable effect on me, and before I had used up four bottles the cough left me and I can talk as loud as anybody; my wife and neighbors don't know what to make of it My opinion is that if they knew the value of the Royal Balsam there is not a family in the country that would be without it, I think there is not a better medicine in existence for Bronchitis or cough than the Royal Balsam, and I conscientiously recommend to all so afflicted to give it a fair trial

I remain yours, truly,

J H. MORRIL.

THE NEW STEAMER, "RAINIER"—The steamer just built by the Cowlitz Steamboat Co at Rainier, arrived at this city Thursday evening, and is now moored at Vaughn's wharf. She is yet unfinished, her cabins and roof being still incomplete. Workmen, however, are engaged upon her and it is expected that the work will begin her completed in a week or ten day as to admit of putting her in regular active service. Her dimensions are, keel, 90 feet, entire length, including projections, 95 feet, beam 17 feet ton nage about 165 tons, new measurement. The cylinders are 8½ inches bore, with three feet stroke. Mr H M Nice, of this Point, was contractor and Mr John Holland director of the work. The hull is a very pretty model and very staunch in build. While on route here from Rainier on Thursday, she ran, under fifty pounds of steam, at the average rate of eight miles per hour. With the ordinary pressure of steam, Mr Chappellier, one of the owners, is confident she will make twelve miles an hour against the Columbia river current. She draws now 19 inches of water, and is expected to carry 60 tons and draw only 10 inches. If so, she will be able to navigate the Cowlitz river throughout the greater part of the year. Captain J. T. Ferns is her commander. Her route will be from Monticello to the old Cowlitz Landing a distance of about forty miles. At present the arrangement is to run her every other day in connection with Earle & Granger's stage line, carrying the United States mails. The inauguration of regular steam navigation on the Cowlitz, will be an era in the travel between Monticello and Olympia. It will obviate the necessity of bumping and thumping over about 50 miles of corduroy roads, in mud waggons. To the farmers of the Cowlitz valley and all the country surrounding, it will be a matter of the greatest importance. Heretofore they have had none but the worst possible means of getting their crops to market—by wagon, over a mountainous and extremely rough road. Their crops were, therefore, almost valueless. When the Rainier gets under way, she will afford them regular and cheap transportation and the Cowlitz valley will, at a single step, emerge from the mountains and join the rest of the agricultural world, on equal terms. Considering these results, to follow the first successful trip of the Rainier, we wish her and her owners, all possible good luck.

CLACKAMAS CITY ITEMS.—We clip the following items from the Enterprise: The Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Clackamas county, Hon. E. D. Shattuck, Judge, will commence on the 28th inst. The list of jurymen, drawn for the term, compose some of the best men in Oregon. The term will be an important one, and is likely to be of unusual length.....We understand that the Highland Club of this city, have challenged the Sparrows of Portland, to play on Monday next in this city. The old iron foundry buildings, at the head of Main street, are being torn down. A friend suggests that this is "a good move."..... There were several Oregon plows on exhibition at the State Fair, but the Wolfest, made by Mr. John W. Lewis of this city, took the blue ribbon. All who have seen the Wolfest pronounce it the best plow ever made.... Rudolf Bjorn, ex officio Tax Collector for this county will commence his tour for the collection of taxes at Milwaukie on the 11th of November, at Rock Creek 11th; Cascade 13th; Youngs' 14th; Spring Water 15th; Harding's 16th; Union 18th; Lower Molalla 19th, Meadows 20th; Upper Molalla 21st; Beaver Creek 22d; Tualatin 25th; Pleasant Hill 27th; Linn city 26th; Oswego 28th; Canemah 30th. Oregon City from the 1st to the 10th of December. After which time the taxes will be collected with costs.

BREAKING A COMMON.—In the Recorder's court, yesterday, the following proceedings were had:

City vs. Mrs. E. M. Bath; charge, keeping waiter girls in a saloon without a license therefor. In this case judgment was reserved from the day before. The defence set up was that the girls employed were the daughters of the defendant. The Recorder could not see the validity of this defence and fined the defendant.

State vs. Indian Joe; larceny, defendant pleaded guilty; was fined and in default of payment sentenced to thirty days in jail. Ten dollars of the fine being subsequently paid, a corresponding portion of the term of imprisonment was remitted.

City vs. Clara Chappelle; decision reserved from the day before. The defence claimed that the verdict of the jury being special as to facts, was in effect not a verdict of guilty. The Recorder held that under Article 1, section 16 of the Constitution, a jury cannot find a verdict as to facts alone or as to the law alone; but must find a verdict upon the facts and the law, that, therefore, in criminal cases, the verdict must be "guilty" or "not guilty." Held that as the verdict in this case was found only as to facts, it amounted to no verdict at all. There will be another trial, therefore, to-day.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.—The following items are from the Register:

The total amount expended by the city on account of the Fire Department is as follows. For the Engine $1000 in currency. Other items, $560 in coin, making a total of $1,708 in currency.....The district school will open on the first Monday in November, under the charge of I. T. Moseley, Esq. We have heard no other than a favorable opinion expressed of Mr. M. as a teacher.....Organized in this city, Oct 10th, 1867, by James A. Waters, Deputy Grand Commander, Star of the North Council No. 7, of Knight Templars. The following officers were elected: W. H. McGrath, W. C.; Hiram G. W. Miller, P. W.; Rice Johnson, S. W.; O. P. Shorey, J. W.; E. Bowling, Chaplain; P. Rooney, Herald; C. T. Stiles, Secretary; Mrs L. Brant, Treasurer; Miss E. M. Stiles, Guard; J. C. Allen, Sentinel.

A RUNNING MATCH.—It will be recollected that some weeks ago a long, narrow boat—we are not certain of its technical name—was hauled here from one of the ocean steamers and taken on board one of the steamers for Oak Point. It belonged to Messrs H. M. Nice & Co. Mr. Nice informed us, yesterday, that about next Christmas, this boat will be used at San Francisco Bay, in a rowing match with the Ward Brothers of New York in a row of the Neptune, the boat belonging to Nice & Co., will be rowed by H. M. Nice, J. Bowling, J. Hosfield and P. N. Kearney, who have rowed four matches heretofore at San Francisco, winning all of them. The distance to be rowed in the approaching contest will be five or six miles as may be yet agreed upon, and the wager is $10,000.

FOR PORTLAND.—The steamship Oriflamme sailed from San Francisco, on Thursday, the 17th, for Portland, with the following list of passengers: Rev M M Stevens, Rev E C Anderson, H H Edwards, J M Rivers, Rev G Derrick, A Frank, John Mason, J W Ladd, J McFee, McLouis and wife, Dr J W Shelton, L Rodlich, W J Lucille, R Jacobs, J R Ralston, L Brown, Mrs D N Cooke, Mrs Rosa Wiles, W F Walker, W N Buckley, John McGowan, John Hug, G Street, L Sanders, J Heidenheim, L Levy, N P Perrine and wife, Mr Jacobs, E Caballe, T H Brooks, Mrs Jane Davidson, D Roth, James Glover, Mrs A Dennis and family, Mrs A M Hill and child, J B Peterson, J Selling, and 30 in the steerage.

HELD FOR PAYMENT OF POSTAGE.—The following letters on which no postage stamps are affixed are remaining in the postoffice of this city, subject to the claims of the writers. They will not be sent till pre-paid: Mr. Darrow, Boise Terry; Mr. Wellis, Bordon, Atlanta City, L. T.; Thompson & Goldthwaite, Houston, Texas; Miss B. Wittan, Salem. Lucy A Hudson, Winsor, Me; Mrs. C. F. Windler, New York; Miss Mary A. Blair, Eugene, Oregon.

MINSTRELS.—Johnny Graham and Mr A. Sprague, formerly of the Tanner Troupe, returned here from Victoria, a day or two since. Johnny says it is his intention to open the Williamette Theater some time next week with a new troupe, a portion of whom are expected up from San Francisco. Both Graham and Sprague are pleasing actors, and, no doubt, the theater-going public will give them a warm reception on their opening night.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.—The ladies of the First Baptist Church of Portland, desire to return their thanks to the public for the generous patronage of the Festival of Wednesday evening, and to Mr. Monnastes for the use of his store; to Hayward & Coleman, for the loan of crockery; to Prof. Grob, for his excellent music; to Mr. Shanahan, for the use of his splendid piano, and to other parties for their donations and assistance.

SALE OF A MINING CLAIM.—Some time since, the mining claim of the Morning Star Tunnel Co., as we are informed, was sold at Sheriff's sale, for debt and taxes. The company failing to redeem in the time prescribed by law, the claim has finally passed into other hands, and we are informed that a gentleman of this city has lately come into possession of the deed.

TURNER OPEN.—We understand that in compliance with the order of Gen. Steele, lately issued, Brevet Brig. Gen. Babbitt has turned over all property, books, and papers of the Quartermaster's department, to Brvt Col. Eddy. We are informed that Gen Babbitt will be stationed at San Francisco.

PESTERS.—Of late, several families in respectable and quiet portions of the city, have been annoyed by persons who, in passing, take particular pains to stop and peep in at windows. A slashing blow of the fist between the peepers of such window-peepers would probably be an effectual remedy.

WHEAT.—The wheat market yesterday was weaker, under unfavorable news from San Francisco. The price reached yesterday morning to $1 10 at which figures the market closed last evening. Last night's dispatches contain substantially the same quotations as of the day previous.

GOING TO EASTERN OREGON.—Gov Woods starts this morning on a visit to Union and Baker counties. He goes for the purpose of gaining all possible information concerning the existing Indian hostilities with a view to applying such remedies as may be found practicable.

THE "FALKENBURG."—The bark Falkenburg was towed down from St. Helens to Astoria by the Okanagan, yesterday. At Astoria the bark will take on board about two hundred barrels salmon and go to sea, upon the first favorable opportunity.

GOLD.—By our dispatches received last evening, subsequent to the making up of our Market Review it will be seen gold has risen in New York to 144¾. Legal Tenders are unchanged.

A NEW STEAMER FOR THE COLUMBIA.—Mr H M Nice informs us that he and others are about to begin the building, at Oak Point, of a new steamer for the Columbia river trade.

OFFICIAL VISIT TO THE ASYLUM.—Governor Woods yesterday, made an official visit to the Insane Asylum. The law requires at least two such visits and inspections each year.

RAN UP.—The schooner J C Champion, Quick Master, sailed for Tillamook Bay, yesterday morning, with 30 tons of flour and assorted merchandize.

BARGAIN HERE.—have on hand and for sale at low prices, the largest stock of Clothing in the State.

ACTIVE OLD MAN.—Captain David Hinkley, of Livermore, Androscoggin county, Maine, rode six miles on Monday, September 9th, and voted for General Chamberlain for Governor. Captain Hinkley was born in 1765, and is therefore one hundred and two years of age. He voted for General Washington for the first President of the United States, and has voted for President at every election since that time. He hopes to live to vote for General Grant for President in 1868, and he will then have voted for him who found him, him who liberated and him who saved the republic—Washington, Lincoln and Grant.

The Proprietor of the LAFAYETTE RESTAURANT takes pleasure in informing his friends and the public in general, that from this date, and during the oyster season, he will keep his establishment open at night until 2 o'clock A. M., and will serve Oysters and Suppers in every style.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.
It is a real pleasure to us to speak favorably of this article, known almost universally to be a good and safe remedy for burns and other pains of the body. It is valuable not only for colds in the winter, but for various summer complaints, and should be in every family. The casualty which demands it may come unawares.—Christian Advocate.
PAIN KILLER, taken internally, should be adulterated with milk or water, and sweetened with sugar, if desired, or made into a syrup with molasses. For a Cough and Bronchitis, a few drops on sugar, eaten, will be more effective than any thing else. For Sore Throat, gargle the throat with a mixture of Pain Killer and water and the relief is immediate and cure positive.

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

The Masters of the Queen's English.

Professor William Matthews, of the University of Chicago, addressed the alumni at Waterville, (Me.) College, lately, on "Words," and closed with the following description of the foremost English authors, past and present:

Of the many striking facts showing the significance of words, none perhaps is more interesting to a curious mind than to observe how the Alexanders and Napoleons of letters marshal their verbal battalions on the battle-fields of thought. Foremost among those who wield despotic sway over the domain of letters is my Lord Bacon, whose words, like a Spartan phalanx, closely compacted—almost squeezing each other, so close are their files—and all moving in irresistible array, without confusion or chasm, now holding some Thermopylæ of new truth against some subchastic Xerxes, now storming some ancient Malakoff of error, but always with "victory sitting eagle-winged on their crests." A strain of music bursts on your ear; "sweet as is Appolo's lute," and lo! Milton's dazzling files, clad in celestial panoply, lifting high their gorgeous ensign, which "shines like a meteor streaming to the wind"—"breathing united force and fixed thought"—come moving on "in perfect phalanx to the Dorian mood of flutes and soft recorders." Next comes Chillingworth, with his glittering rapie, all rhetorical rule and flourish, according to the schools passado, montanto, stuccato—one, two, three—the third in your bosom. Then stalks along Chatham, with his two-handed sword, striking with the edge, while he pierces with the point, and stuns with the hilt, and wielding the ponderous weapon as easily as you would a flail. Next strides Johnson with elephantine tread, with the club of logic in one hand, a revolver in the other, hitting right and left with antithetical blows, and "when his pistol missed fire, knocking you down with the butt end of it." Burke, with lightning in each hand, stands by a Lancaster [illegible] and forth there bursts, with [illegible] roar, mushes of fiery conceits, [illegible] chain shot, stones from quarries, [illegible] grenades torpedoes and balls that [illegible] everything before them. Close after [illegible] comes Junius armed cap-a-pie, carrying a [illegible] and a scalping knife in the eye in fight, cunning of [illegible] of his weapon, and merciless in [illegible] playing it like a tongue of flame" [illegible] trembling victims. There is Brougham [illegible] a dozen enemies at once with a tremendous [illegible] claymore; Macaulay, running [illegible] his opponent's guard, stabbing him to the [illegible] with the heavy dagger of [illegible] short, epigrammatic sentence; Hugh Elliott, cracking his enemies' skulls with a sledge hammer, or pounding them to jelly with his huge fists; Sydney Smith, firing his arguments, feathered with fancy and pointed with the steel of the keenest wit; Disraeli, wielding a polar scimitar, gigantic as a club, glittering as a star, deadly as a scimetar, and cool as eternal frost; Emerson, transfixing his adversaries with a blade of transcendental temper, snatched from the sunbeam of Plato; and Carlyle, relentless iconoclast of shams, who "gangs his nain pairt," armed with an antique stone ax, with which he smashes solemn humbugs as you would drugs with a pestle and mortar.

COMMODORE FARRAGUT AND THE MUSCOVITE.—The correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Moscow, August 10th, (Russian calendar, August 7th,) says:

To-day our officers have spent mostly in the Kremlin, sacred to the Russian as having witnessed the conflagrations of Napoleon in 1812. The Kremlin is two miles in circuit, and within its walls are situated the Terems, the residence of the Czars of Russia before Peter the Great; the large palace of the present Czar, the Granovitaya palace, the Cathedral of the Assumption, the holy ground where the holy oil is kept and made, with which all the children of Russia are baptized; the Treasury, containing the crowns of conquered kingdoms. The crown of Peter the Great, in this building, contains 847 diamonds, and that of Catharine II. 2,536. Here also are the carriages used by Elizabeth in journeying between St. Petersburg and Moscow. One is fitted up as a dining room where Elizabeth and her suit of twelve dined at one table. In the Kremlin are the Russian cannon taken from almost every country in Europe and enough to make a Trojan column. Here is the 36 inch gun. The big gun, probably the largest in the world, is mounted on wheels, and is made of bronze. The balls, nine feet in circumference, are piled up at the mouth of the gun. Admiral Farragut measured the muzzle today in the presence of the party, observing that a Mississippi steamboat might "dodge the shots!" The Admiral is in favor of big guns, he thinks that when we get beyond 15 inches we are retrograding in science. The big gun, like the big ball, has never been tried, and in case of an explosion there would undoubtedly be more danger in the rear than in front. The Prussians, who used no large guns in their campaign against the Austrians last summer, knew what they were about. Our officers are now (9 o'clock at night), at the Cockerel waiting for the train to take them to the great National Fair at Nijni Novgorod, 350 miles to the southward. Here, once a year, the productions and manufactures of South-Eastern Russia are brought by the channel of the Volga and Oka rivers for exchange and sale. Here the merchants of the Caspian Sea meet the merchants of the Baltic, tea is exchanged for iron and shoes; Asia shakes hands with Europe, and the gilded children of the Orient listen to the fright tales of the Northland.

PRESIDENTIAL CHRONOLOGY IN RHYME.—These here head seventeen Presidents of the United States. The subjoined scrap—the work of some unknown hand—will inform the reader who have been Presidents, and the order in which they succeeded [illegible]:

At Washington was heard one [illegible]
Then Senator Adams next came on.
Jackson made number three;
Monroe, the fifth, to him succeeded.
And sixth in order Adams [illegible]
And seventh, Andrew Jackson came;
And eighth, we count Van Buren;
Then Harrison made number nine;
And tenth John Tyler filled the line.
Polk was the eleventh, as we know;
The twelfth was Taylor in the row.
Fillmore, the thirteenth, took his place;
And Pierce was fourteenth in the race.
Buchanan the fifteenth, knows;
Then Lincoln, as it's forth, comes in.
Johnson, the seventeenth, and last,
Still lives to close the disastrous past.
Now let us stop until we see
Who our next President will be.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, Oct. 13, 1867.

Our dispatches quote quote gold in New York yesterday at 143¼. Legal tenders in San Francisco, were 70@ buying and 70½@ selling.

The principal excitement for the past week, has been in produce, and particularly in wheat and flour. At our last report, wheat was firm at 95@$1 00. Under stimulating news from San Francisco, New York and Liverpool, the price advanced a little every day, till yesterday it was firm at $1 10 to $1 20, cash price, according to quality. Many are puzzled to understand why wheat and flour should so soon after harvest, run up so rapidly. The fact is owing generally to a light harvest and the somewhat dubious prospects for peace in Europe. It is now definitely known that France has raised no more grain than will barely suffice for home consumption. Spain is buying of foreign countries. The Middle States of Europe and Great Britain have harvested a less than average crop. The Baltic region in Russia is the only section which has raised a plentiful crop, in the event of an European war, which is not at all improbable, supplies from the Baltic would be cut off, and thus the rest of Europe would naturally turn to America for whatever they might find it necessary to buy. The native, almost eager purchases by the heaviest dealers of several of the European States, show how little confidence they have in the continuance of amicable political relations, till the gathering of another harvest. The influence of this state of things is first felt at Liverpool, where the price of wheat is reported 17 shillings 9@13 the, or about $2 00 ₩ bushel, coin. At New York, where the European demand must exercise an influence, wheat was last reported $2 20 ₩ 100 lbs, in currency, equivalent to $2 34 in coin. In order to answer this demand, New York buys whatever wheat is most easily reached, at the most favorable rates. The Mississippi valley usually has a high surplus to supply such demands; but this year, the crop is light and New York is forced to seek elsewhere. This year there is little surplus anywhere except on the Pacific coast; and here, the surplus is not so large as it was, before harvest, expected to be. The rise in New York and Liverpool, of course made a good margin for shipment from San Francisco, and several vessels were chartered, two of them direct for Liverpool. The parties chartering, prefer to fill up their cargoes quickly and put them under immediate sale for destination. Competition, and advances in price were the natural result. Portland felt the influence immediately, and hence, the rapid rise here. It is the opinion, however, among our most sagacious dealers, that the advance has been too rapid and too close upon the heels of harvest to be depended upon. The present price, $1 20, may be maintained for several days, or it may go back any day, far enough to seriously damage country purchasers. The wheat market in San Francisco, was unsettled last evening. Buyers, here, feel a little shaky, and are buying with caution. It is probable that prices have gone as far as the condition of Eastern markets will at present allow. We quote Standard flour at $7, an advance of 50c ₩ barrel. Albany steam mills, $6 50; Dayton extra, $6 25; Harrisburg mills, $6@6 50; good country brands, $5@6 25; other brands, unchanged. Bacon remains at the same figures as last week; supply ample. Hams ditto. No changes in butter and lard. Dried apples are in excess of the demand and have gone down to 7@8c. Rice are becoming scarce and are much inquired for at 25@30c.

In other departments of trade there has been a good business transacted. In view of the early closing of the roads of the interior for the winter, the merchants have been buying very liberally for their winter and early spring trade.

Groceries have undergone no change in prices since our last report. In general the stocks on hand and arriving are ample to supply all requirements. Wholesale grocers anticipate a considerable falling off in trade, soon.

Hardware remains as last week. Trade the last week was somewhat fitful; the average sales were only moderate.

The dry goods trade has been very good for the entire week. Prices of most cotton goods have fallen a trifle. Woolens remain at the same figures. The demand is good; stocks are becoming reduced, notwithstanding the mills are running with increased forces. Merchants are confident of a good trade to the very last of the season.

We quote the following from the Umatilla Press, of the 11th, as showing the aspects of business in the Eastern part of the State:

There are but few changes to note. Our previous remarks about business are applicable to this week's transactions.

Our merchants appear to have done a good week's business; all seem to be selling more or less at all times, and the lively appearance of the town certainly indicates that business, if not rushing, is at any rate firm.

Freighting has not undergone any material change since last week. We notice, however, that the warehouses of our Forwarding Merchants are getting emptier than they have been for some time. Prices rule the same as at last quotations, viz:

To Idaho City, by ox teams ..... 7½ cents.
On mule teams and trains..... 8 "
To Owyhee ..... 8 "

Were it not that the season is already too far advanced, we would prophesy a decline in rates, but under the circumstances, we think that prices will remain unchanged for some time, as teamsters and packers will find it more profitable to lay up than to venture on a trip at this season of the year at less prices than are offered now.

The merchandize market here depends entirely on that of Portland, and is ruled and regulated by the same. The prices quoted in the Portland papers may be said to be the ruling prices here, with the addition of the cost of freight from Portland to this point. Cash customers are scarce here, but whenever one makes his appearance, he will generally do better than going to the expense of a trip below and back.

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices.
